We are a network of more than 250 companies and public sector organisations operating across 17 industries. Our members include:

- Corporations
- Media companies
- Non-profits
- Parliamentarians
- Police forces
- Professional services firms
- Public service organisations

We aim to provide information for employers, many of whom have no experience in this area, to help them support their employees who are facing domestic abuse or who are perpetrators.
All employers will have some people who have faced or are facing domestic abuse, either as victims, witnesses or perpetrators. Many employers find that domestic abuse reduces performance at work, increases absenteeism and may lead to mental illness.

The European Institute for Gender Equality (2014) estimated that in 2012 the overall cost of gender based violence was £26 billion to the victims & society and £3.4 billion to the economy*.

Why we work with employers

We believe that employers are a key solution

When employers demonstrate that they are aware of domestic abuse and make staff aware of the services that are available, this can help to reduce the wall of silence about domestic abuse that prevents many from seeking help.

Many employers are already taking action in their organisations – for example:

- Developing policies on domestic abuse
- Raising awareness amongst employees
- Training senior staff, managers and ambassadors on how to identify those who may need help
- Offering direct help or signposting to where it can be found

Only through greater awareness, relationship building and the sharing of best practice can we make a systematic change to the way domestic abuse is handled in the UK.

We believe that every one of our members plays an important part in that.
Our work to date

Over the past 2 years, we have helped to develop a number of resources and initiatives that will benefit employers looking to take action.

TOOLKIT FOR EMPLOYERS

With Business in the Community and Public Health England, we have created a domestic abuse toolkit for employers that outlines best evidence and practice. You can access this at: https://wellbeing.bitc.org.uk/all-resources/toolkits/domestic-abuse-toolkit-employers.

BRIGHTSKY MOBILE APP

The Vodafone Foundation and Hestia have launched Bright Sky, a free mobile app providing comprehensive support and information to people affected by domestic abuse, including a UK-wide directory of specialist support services. It is also a tool for friends, family and professionals seeking to support someone who is a victim. Download on the App Store and Google Play Store or find out more at: www.hestia.org/brightskey

EVERYONE’S BUSINESS

We are part of a cross-partnership programme to give employers access to bespoke support on domestic abuse affecting their employees.

Over the next 2 years, employers will be able to access the tools needed to strengthen their response and support prevention efforts by raising awareness in the workplace, including:

- Assessment of current company policies
- Access to dedicated specialist senior advocates and counsellors
- Training for staff
- Use of an online portal that can be branded and tailored by employers
